Red Cross Campaign October 14th To November 15th

With a goal of $5,000,000 for the nation, the Canadian Red Cross Society will open its annual drive next Monday, October 14th, and between then and November 15th, Canadians from coast to coast will be asked to contribute five million dollars to aid in the program of Red Cross at home and abroad. Alberta's quota is $300,000, and the Raymond district to give its share will raise about $1,200, which amounts to $1.00 for each adult in the district.

One good piece of news in connection with this drive is that all elevators have been authorized to accept and pay for wheat donated to the Red Cross over and ABOVE THE FARMER'S QUOTA. There is no limit to this donation, and if a farmer wishes to give $10. to the Red Cross for his family, he delivers the grain in his name and on his permit to the elevator, over and above his quota, and the elevator man makes out the check to the Red Cross instead of the farmer and thus his Red Cross donation is paid.

We hope we have made this point clear. This donation will make no difference at all to your quota. As soon as the quota is raised or a new quota announced, a farmer can deliver his full amount under the quota regardless of his donation to the Red Cross, so that while open sale for Red Cross wheat cannot be carried on, an out and out donation for this worthy cause may be made, and no one will be any the poorer.

In view of what the Red Cross has been doing during the war in past months, we do not believe that much salesman ship will be necessary in the campaign for funds. With many Canadians now overseas in the service and the haven which Red Cross affords for these men when on furlough or in hospital, we believe that every conscientious Canadian will dig down and "Give Till it Hurts" to the worthy and deserving cause of Red Cross.

NEWS NOTES

Milt Moffatt of Lethbridge was in Raymond Monday on business.

Pres. and Mrs. T. Geo. Wood were week end visitors at Calgary returning home Sunday evening.

Young Canadians went into training this week in 39 training centres across Canada and will be there for 30 days. 29,750 young men were called up in this first draft. According to reports the quarters for these men are comfortable, tidy and clean, and will not bear any of the marks of hard beds, and unpleasant equipment of years passed.

GREAT SCENES IN "BRIGHAM YOUNG"

Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Brigham Young," written by Louis Bromfield, which comes to the Capitol Theatre for one full week beginning on Monday, October 14th, is said to depict faithfully the thrilling events of the famous Mormon trek. Some of the film's high-points are:

The crossing of the Mississippi in dead winter with men, women and children fleeing before guns across the cracking ice.

The massacre at Nauvoo, when masked raiders sacked the city.

The arrival at Great Salt Lake and the start of the final battle for existence with the barren land.

The invasion of crickets and the miracle of the sea gulls.

NC ROTARY MEETING

NEXT WEEK

Because of next Monday being Thanksgiving Day and a statutory holiday no Rotary meeting will be held. Members please take notice.

At last Monday's meeting Rotarian T. Geo. Wood read an article, a reprint of a radio talk by Matt Halton dealing with the conditions in England due to the war. The sentiments of the article showed a great need for the principles of Rotary throughout the world and much suffering and sorrow because of the heartless and ruthless nature of Britain's enemy in the present conflict.

Calling All Georges

The following letter is addressed to the Georges of the district. It doesn't matter if George is the first or middle or the last name. If you have the name George as part of your title please read.

As you no doubt have read George Phillips a lawyer in Cornwall Ontario has started a campaign to have all Georges in the dominion contribute to a fund to purchase a Hurricane fighting plane. To me it seems a darn good idea. I spoke to other Georges and they also thought the idea was splendid. To further the campaign is the purpose of this letter. If the thought meets with approval would suggest that all the Georges in the district combine their contributions and mail them together to Cornwall. Geo. Court has agreed to act as Treasurer of the Raymond Georges. He will forward to Cornwall all funds that are left with him for that purpose. He will also request that an individual receipt be sent from Cornwall to each contributor. Seems to me that that receipt will be a nice token to keep for memories sake. If you think its a good idea will you not make a contribution. If you have a son named George be he an infant or large kid; give something for him too. Lets have a long list. Even if its only a mid-get amount send it along. I would be in favor of keeping secret the amount sent by each donor. Come on; lets show the world that George can really do it.

George H. Brewerton.

Chess Game In War Makes New Set Ups

The guessing game in the war is still a good one. Rumania apparently has become a pawn in the Axis power plan, and like other dominated countries will be stripped of all supplies, including even food to supply the Nazi army. The oil fields especially are the goal of the Nazi powers & it would appear that British capital invested in the wells will play Santa Claus to the Nazi regime as long as the wells produce. It is a curious turn of affairs that after Rumania holding out as long as she did and after the Iron Guard purge of a ear ago, that fifth columnists in the nation should still gain power enough to govern the country, including even forcing the abdication of King Carol. The belief of European countries in the ultimate victory of Nazism seems to be general over parts of Europe, and what they expect to get as a reward for their support to this plan we are unable to see. We may be mistaken as to the feelings of the majority, in fact we hope we are, but the fact remains that more and more of them are being swung into line behind the Axis.

A new chapter in bombing was written in London early this week, when German planes flew so high over England that they could not be seen nor heard, and dumped their salvos of bombs by guess from this altitude. Any effort at target bombing was of course, out of the question, but with a target as large as the city of London to let the bombs fall in it was to be expected that some of them would hit. A crowd-buss was hit Tuesday morning when people were travelling in it on their way to work, and on Wednesday morning a large hospital and a shelter was struck by this indiscriminate and ruthless mode of attack. The morale of Britain, however is unshaken, and according to British authorities, air raid damage is diminishing.

One cannot help but admire the British aimers for confining their bombing to military objectives. After all the ruthless slaughter of women and children, the aged and crippled, contribute nothing to the winning of the war, and someone is going to pay and pay dearly for this murderous procedure. While there is a clamor for reprisal raidings over Germany and while it may come personally we hope not. If it were helping to win the war, it would be justifiable, but where it is only done to try and break the morale of a nation, and where it does nothing but add to the determination of the people to carry on to the end, surely there is no justification for it. We like to think that it is not the spirit of the German people that is shown in these murderous attacks, and we like to think that the day may come when internal revolution will put a stop to such practices. Germany today, is being ordered around by a man who is insane with the lust of power, and he has enough partially insane henchmen, that those who revolt at such practices as are being carried out in the name of conquest, can do nothing. It is to be hoped that such murder does not represent the spirit of the German people.

In view of the recent happenings, the cause of the Allies seems to be getting stronger all the time. Japan has paved the way for more direct help from the United States to Britain.

The re-opening of the Burma road will strengthen China's hands in her efforts to throw off the oppression of Japan and while Japan's attacks on the Burma road, according to her boasts, may bring the full force of Britain in the near east, against her, it is quite likely that with her hands as full as they are today watching Russia, fighting China and trying to keep out of direct conflict with the United States, that she will really have little time for direct conflict with Britain either on land or sea or in the air. Then too, every day see, the completion of new factories, or the conversion of present ones into factories for producing war supplies, and the airplane production program is gaining momentum every week, and hundreds of air men nearer graduation from the various schools each day, so that while the Axis powers are running short of machines, and shorter still of pilots, gunners and navigators, and according to reports are being forced to press mere boys into active service, the British Empire is turning out more men every day to man her planes and carry on the conflict.

As Britains, and as Christians let us pray that an all wise God will strengthen the hands of those who are upholding the right and hasten the day when the bloodshed and carnage, and slaughter of innocent men, women and children will cease and peace return to the earth.

LIONS LUNCHEON AND MEETING

The local Lions Club held their first meeting and luncheon Monday evening last in the Club Cafe. A good number of members were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent after the luncheon. Due to not having received detailed instructions from the International office no program was carried out, but discussion centered around projects for the Club, and a definite program is expected to be charted at their next meeting in two weeks time.

INVESTIGATION SHOWS WHY TOBACCO PARCELS FAIL TO REACH TROOPS

Due to complaints being made of the non-arrival of cigarettes and tobacco packages sent to soldiers of the C.A.S.F. Overseas from Canada, Postmaster General William P. Mulock instituted an immediate investigation of a series of individual cases. The report received reveals that in no single instance was the alleged loss or delay occasioned through any fault of the Post Office Department, in the cases where the investigations have been completed.

It was found that in some cases however, the tobacco, etc., which the soldiers stated had not reached them had not been sent by their friends in Canada. In other instances it was learned that the parcels had actually been received by the addressee at a later date. Many of the complaints of the non-arrival resulted from the loss, by enemy action, of a steamer, carrying 4,000 parcels from one tobacco firm alone, earlier this season. It was proven in all cases investigated that non receipt of the parcels overseas was not due to misappropriation either at the tobacco companies' quarters or at the Base Army Post Office.

Postmaster General Mulock states that while the Postal Service is doing everything possible to quickly and safely deliver parcels of tobacco to Overseas troops, delay is caused because of the failure of certain of the public to address mail matter properly.

This delay occasions disappointment on the part of those who are expecting letters or parcels. Considerable extra burden is also placed on the Post Office Department which is faced with the necessity of searching records in an endeavour to complete the addresses in order that the parcels may be safely delivered.

In order that all delay and disappointment may be avoided and the soldiers receive their parcels and letters promptly it is requested that all persons writing to the troops should carry out the simple mailing rules of completely and legibly addressing letters and parcels, fully prepaying postage affixing Customs Declarations, as well as carefully packing parcels to withstand the handling they will necessarily be subjected to during transmission Overseas. Among the contents of a parcel a slip of paper should be inserted giving the proper military address of the soldier, as well as the return address of the sender.

Letters or parcels sent to members of the C.A.S.F. Overseas should be addressed as follows: Regimental Number, Rank, Name, Full name of Regiment or Unit C.A.S.F. Care of Base Post Office, Canada.

THANKSGIVING

Monday is Thanksgiving Day, and how grateful we should all be to King and Government, that to the present has procured for us life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. As one thinks of the freedom and plenty that we on this American continent are enjoying, one cannot help but be thankful for a condition of circumstances through which we enjoy these blessings, nor can one but think, with deep and sincere sympathy of the millions of people who, through another set of circumstances, are in the European countries, overrun by dictators, and because of circumstances which they could not control, and which to a great extent they were not a party to in any way, have been enslaved by merciless taskmasters, drunk with the lust for power and dominion.

One need not be much of a student of history to appreciate the difference in attitude that actuates the governments of free democracies, to the aims and objects of nations and people ruled by the iron will of dictators and tyrants. In one case laws are made and enacted for the progress, advancement and development of the people. Laws and government which will guarantee to all, so far as is humanly possible, equal rights. In the other cases the rights of the people are subordinated to the desires of the government. The state is first, the people making up the state are second. Free people can hardly conceive of such a condition. It exists however, and today, in the nations of Europe, ruled over or mandated by the ruling isms of the day one cannot even think out loud, out of harmony with the government without being in danger of death for a disloyal act.

Like the old saying 'we never miss the water till the well runs dry,' one might paraphrase it to say "we will never appreciate democratic government until we lose its blessing." Heaven grant, that this may never come. Certainly, it should never come. Our forefathers, a generation or two ago spilled their blood to buy this freedom and democracy for the American republic, and then a Canada grew out of its swaddling clothes, full freedom in governmental matters were granted to her, so that today, these two great empires in the

DOVER PATROL

Since time beyond the memory of man the Channel tide run inward toward the Strait of Dover, there to meet the rush of water from the North Sea, surging to and fro with the winds. The tides have come and gone—19 to 23 feet on the French coast, 15 to 16 on the English side. They have moved at a speed with which sailing vessels could not always cope—three and a half knots an hour, on the average, up to five.

North American continent are enjoying the greatest and truest freedom of any nations on earth. Free, to a far greater extent than most nations of the fifth columnist and the under cover worker, removed from and apart from the alarms of wars, and able, through the grace of God to pursue our several ways in the quest of what we individually think is happiness, unfettered so long as we respect the rights of our fellow men.

And yet, with the well known radio program of the day "There is a destiny that makes us brothers. None goes his way alone. All that we send into the lives of others. Come back into our own." And so, as we enjoy our Thanksgiving, let us do so with a prayer and a thought for the millions of sufferers in the present upheaval, and with a sincere hope that out of the conflict and turmoil may come that peace, fellowship and understanding between men and nations that has been the hope of true democracy and Christianity ever since the history of man began.

Thanksgiving, while usually observed as a time of feasting, should this year bring to us all a deeper significance & a fuller appreciation of the spirit of the season and we should "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

knots in races like that off the Goodwin Sands. Dover Cliffs have looked down on Caesar and on William the Conqueror, on Monk and Nelson locked in battle with the Dutch or French on the Dover Patrol of the last war. Weather broke the back of the Armada, held Napoleon on the beach at Boulogne. It does not halt the steam driven or gasoline driven vessels of 1940, manned by the descendants of the men who fought under Drake and Nelson.

The Channel is a geological accident. Lower the water level or raise the land level by twenty or thirty fathoms at the Straits of Dover and Britain would no longer be an island. The accident made history; kept the British people secure while from precedent to precedent they developed parliamentary government and the basic liberties; made possible the burgeoning of genius in Chaucer, Shakespeare, Milton, Dickens; gave to a fearless nation the impulse to explore and dominion over the seas. In one sense Britain is the Channel. In the turbulent ribbon of water, often be fogged, heaving and roaring in Winter under relentless winds, she has found her destiny. Thus far, said the Channel to Britain's enemies—thus far, and no farther.

The lesson of the Dover Patrol in the old war was that power driven vessels could tame the Channel; the lesson of the Zeppelins then and of the airborne engines of death now is that its physical presence can momentarily be disregarded. It is not so certain that even a Dictator whose self esteem has nearly reached the point when he will command the tides to stand still, can ignore unpunished the surface of the waters. Even more, the Channel is part of the British soul. Its foaming tidal races are the milk on which liberty has been nurtured. There is an invisible English Channel which, until the final word is written, we shall not believe tyranny can cross; there is a Dover Patrol, of all the great captains, of all the great liberators, which never yet has struck its flag.

Mountain echo—an uninvited guest, gave the huge "Brigham Young" company some of its toughest moments while on location.

Director, Henry Hathaway, filming Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "Brigham Young," by Louis Bromfield, 8500 feet up in the San Bernardino mountains, was completely stymied.

To overcome the echo, Hathaway filmed the scene without sound. It was recorded when the location company returned to Hollywood. "Brigham Young," the 20th Century Fox film will show at the Capital Theatre all next week.

WEEKLY LETTER

PRE-WINTER GARDEN WORK

Garden work at the Lethbridge Experimental Station comprises both irrigation and dry land and while the two types of gardening are similar in many respects, there are differences, particularly in the preparation of the soil.

In preparing the dry land garden at this station, the practice has been to summer-fallow one-half of the garden plot each year, when a moderate dressing of well rotted manure is ploughed under. This practice has proved a good insurance against drought and is much safer than cropping all of the garden plot every year where moisture is the limiting factor. Summer-fallowing for garden crops is just as worth while as summerfallowing for wheat. In fact it is more so since many vegetables are less drought resistant than wheat and a good garden can contribute so much to our living and well being. Where no summer-fallow is available and fall or spring ploughing must be resorted to, in the drier areas outside of the irrigated districts, the application of manure is not advised. Usually the moisture supply is inadequate for the manure to be used by the plants and the presence of undecayed straw material has the effect of retarding plant growth. The safest plan in areas of limited rainfall where irrigation is not available is to turn under a dressing of manure only when the land is being summerfallowed in June. In areas of more favoured rainfall, and especially with the precipitation the last few weeks, well rotted manure should prove helpful if ploughed under this fall.

The irrigated plots used here for garden work are all being manured heavily and ploughed before freeze-up since a liberal application of well rotted manure ploughed under each fall is considered of the utmost importance in preparing an irrigated garden soil. Irrigated garden soils need to be fall ploughed because artificial watering tends to produce a certain degree of lumpiness that can only be satisfactorily overcome, it seems by fall ploughing and exposing the lumps to the action of winter freezing and thawing. As the land is being given this fall ploughing it is most desirable that it be harrowed at once

ALBERTA POOL ELEVATOR SPACE

The building program undertaken by Alberta Pool elevators during the current year, in order that patrons might get additional storage space for their deliveries, was revealed in a radio address given by R. D. Purdy general manager, last week.

The program provided for added space of some 5½ million bushels of grain, and was as follows:

Four twin elevators.
Twenty one cribbed annexes.
One hundred and forty ball-oon-type annexes.

The country elevator system, numbering now 424 houses, with the additional annexes can accommodate 23,000,000 bushels of grain.

Three terminals operated, two at Vancouver and one (in conjunction with the Manitoba Wheat Pool) at Port Arthur, provide space for about 9,000,000 bushels. The total capacity of the entire Alberta Pool system is thus approximately 32,000,000 bushels.

THE EARL OF ATHLONE APPEALS FOR MORE SCOUT LEADERS

A special message from His Excellency the Governor-General, the Earl of Athlone, Chief Scout for Canada, to adult leaders of the Scout Association throughout the Dominion, also calls upon available and suitable men outside the movement to come forward and take training as Scouters. The Governor-General's message, in the October issue of The Scout Leader, assures such wartime volunteers that they will never regret having joined what "by common consent is the finest youth movement of modern times."

"Wherever I have seen Scouts since I landed," declares His Excellency, "I have been impressed by their bearing, and I know that almost every boy in Canada would want to be a Scout if good leaders were available."

Due to the labor demand, a large number of Indians from the Blood Reserve are assisting in the threshing and beet harvest.

that is while the soil is still damp. This can best be accomplished by attaching a section of the harrow to the plough. The ploughing under of well rotted manure every fall helps to make an irrigated soil highly productive and easy to handle.

A people's voice! we are a people yet.
Though all men else their nobler dreams forget,
Confused by brainless mobs and lawless Powers;
Thank Him who led us here, and roughly set

We have a voice with which to pay the debt

And keep it ours, O God, from brute control,
O Statesmen, guard us, guard the eye, the soul

And save the one true seed of freedom sown
Betwixt a people and their ancient throne,
That sober freedom out of which there springs
Our loyal passion for our temperate kings.

A NEW KIND OF BURGLARY

A new kind of wartime burglary was that reported by a Winnipeg soldier's wife. Returning to her home after a day's absence, a neighbour informed her that two boys had been seen leaving her woodshed, after screwing the door hinges back into place. Investigating, the woman found that a load of wood had been split and neatly piled. The "burglars" were Boy Scouts who had taken on the job of looking after the soldier's home during his absence.

HOG CARCASS GRADES, WEIGHTS AND CLASSES

Now that carcass grading of hogs is the official method in Canada, a review of the regulations will show that they have been drawn up to assist the farmer in producing the finest bacon hogs at the greatest profit. The carcass grades for quality are A, B, C, D, and E.

Grade A. This is the most desirable carcass for all purposes and must be of the best quality. In producing this grade it is necessary for the farmer to watch the weights and finish. There is only one class in this grade—Class 1. The weight is from 140 to 170 lb. The shortest length of side to conform with the regulations is 29 inches; the maximum fat on the shoulder, 2 inches and the maximum fat on the loin, 1½ inches. The standards set for Grade A, apart from the carcass being of the best quality, are that the shoulder must be balanced in weight in relation to the ham; the belly must be thick and of even width throughout, with full flank; the ham full fleshed, evenly covered with fat and of good shape; the back must have the fat firm and of even thickness within the variations allowed; and the quality must include a firm white fat with proper balance of fleshing and fat throughout the carcass.

Grade B. This is a useful grade and may vary from Grade A in any weight class as laid down in the regulations. The grade has three classes—1, 2, and 3. The weight for Class 1 is 135 to 175 lb.; minimum length 28 to 29 inches; maximum fat on shoulder 2 to 2¼ inches, and maximum loin fat 1½ to 2 inches, all measurements according to weight. Class 2—weight, 125 to 134 lb.; minimum length, 27 inches; maximum fat shoulder, 2 inches; maximum fat loin, 1½ inches. Class 3—weight, 116 to 125 lb.; minimum length, 30 inches; maximum fat shoulder 2¼ inches, and maximum fat loin, 2¼ inches.

Grade C. All classes must be well finished and of good quality of fleshing with firm fat. The grade is divided into three classes. The weight for Class 1 is 135 to 175 lb.; maximum fat shoulder, 2¼ to 3 inches, and maximum fat loin, 1¾ to 2¼ inches, both measurements according to weight. Class 2—weight, 120 to 134 lb.; maximum fat shoulder 2¼ inches; maximum fat loin, 1¾ inches. Class 3—weight 116 to 125 lb.; maximum fat shoulder, 3¼ inches, and maximum fat loin, 2½ inches.

Grade D. All classes may contain overfat, slightly unfinished and slightly soft carcasses. There are three classes of the same weight ranges as Grade C.

Grade E. Includes unfinished or oily carcasses; rejected or condemned carcasses; carcasses that have suffered physical damage, and carcasses from ridgling pigs & stags. Other grades are: Lights, Heavies, Extra Heavies, and Sows that have raised one or more litters. Weight for Lights, 119 lb. and under; weight, Heavies, 186 to 205 lb.; weight, Extra Heavies, 206 lb. and over; the Sows, Class 1, carcasses of good fleshing thru out, and Class 2, carcasses that are overfat or very thin.

RAYMOND MOTORS

"HUMANITY HAS STRUCK ITS TENTS"

At one stroke the thousand-year-old British Constitution was abolished by the British House of Commons...

It was done by the passage of an act that could be placed on a sheet of notepaper.

In a few hours the capitalistic organization of society was undermined.

Profit as a motive in human association was suspended.

Labor relinquished cherished rights and privileges as its contribution.

This momentous change heralds the passing of an era.

Humanity has once again struck its tents and is on the march.

Join the trend and aid in placing the co-operative movement strongly in the vanguard of a new hope.
